The General Hospital Society of Connecticut

C, The General Hospital Society of Connecticut, which was chartered by a group of civic leaders in New Haven on May 26, 1826, owns and operates the New Haven Hospital. It is probably the fifth oldest general hospital society in the United States.

Created by and for the community, the Hospital, a voluntary institution, has served the sick and injured for more than a century. Coincidental with the growth of the city the Hospital has expanded from a capacity of seventy-five beds to five hundred ninety beds. It provides hospital care for the men, women, and children of the community without regard to race, religion, or ability to pay.

As a general hospital, affiliated with the Schools of Medicine and Nursing of Yale University, it is equipped to provide the patient with skilled and modern treatment for acute diseases, including contagious, tuberculous, nervous, and mental diseases.

The New Haven Dispensary, chartered in 1872, is affiliated with the New Haven Hospital. Its thirty-five clinics are located in the Hospital and are organized for the diagnosis and treatment of the sick and needy not requiring bed care.

REPORT OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE AND THE DIRECTOR

To the Directors of the General Hospital Society of Connecticut:

FOR the sixth time in a long and honorable history, the New Haven Hospital is conducting its operations under the shadow of war. The fiscal years ended June 30, 1942, and June 30, 1943, which are combined in this report, were two of the most active years in its history. This growing institution has taken its part in providing trained men and women required by the military needs of a global war, and in meeting the changing civilian requirements in a war-paced production effort never before equalled. During this period an increased volume of service was furnished by workers, radically decreased in both number and experience, and handicapped by government limitations of priorities, labor stabilization, and rationing.

War forced a revaluation of "wants" to the end that "imperatives" of the armed forces might be met. Yet it was realized, in this modern all-out war, that the civilian population could pay a heavier price in death from disease, exposure, and privation than the armed forces in battle. Moreover, as a medium of war production and supply, the essential welfare of the civil community demanded that its health agencies, of which the hospital is the natural center, be preserved and expanded.

Traditional hospital practice had to be altered, even though sometimes contrary to the patients' desire, if the essential quality of care was to be maintained. The public was asked to accept and to appreciate this fact for the duration of the war—not only as a patriotic duty, but also as a necessity.

The meeting of these essential requirements was achieved only through resourceful teamwork, personal sacrifice, and fortitude on the part of the professional staff, employees, and volunteer workers in the Hospital organization.

Meeting the Military Needs

On July 15, 1942, the New Haven Hospital shared with the Yale University Schools of Medicine and of Nursing the honor of dispatching the personnel of the U.S. General Hospital, No. 39, for active service overseas.

The honor roll for military service consists of seventy-one doctors from the Attending Staff, thirty-nine doctors from the House Staff, fifty-five nurses, and forty-eight other regular employees, totalling two hundred and thirteen from the official family as of June 30, 1943. Many other members of the organization have served their country on part-time commissions from the Federal government both on military and civilian assignments.

On January 22, 1943, a portion of the property of the William Wirt Winchester Hospital, which had been closed since October 1, 1940, was taken by the Government in condemnation proceedings and is now rented to the U.S. Army Air Forces for their use as the Station Hospital of the Army Air Forces Technical Training Command School at Yale University. The net of these rentals is to be added to the William Wirt Winchester Funds.

Emergency Plans for Civilian Defense

As part of the New Haven Civilian Defense Program, in which organization several of our staff held official positions, the Hospital prepared plans, developed methods, installed equipment and conducted practice drills for defense against air raids or other enemy action. The buildings were altered to afford blackout and physical protection. Special groups were created to care for the medical and hospital needs of disaster casualties. Plans were also designed for satellite institutions to care for evacuated patients from the city area. The adequacy and thoroughness of these plans caused them to be used as a pattern in many other sections of the country.

Meeting the Civilian Needs

As shown by the statistical data accompanying this report, there was a substantial increase in the volume of service during both years. For the first year, the increase over the previous year was 2,708 patient days, which was followed by a further increase of 4,400 patient days in the next year. These increases in patient days and the high rate of average occupancy of 85.6% (many times the occupancy rate was over 100%) with no increase in the normal bed space caused overcrowded conditions, with the result that such places as waiting rooms and doctors' offices were used continuously for patients' beds. Likewise, every effort was made to shorten the length of patients' stay, particularly in the maternity service because of the unexampled rise in hospitalized births. We are glad to be able to say that at no time was any emergency patient refused admission.

A decrease in the number of visits to the New Haven Dispensary occurred in both years. This decrease reflected the continuing improvement of economic conditions among persons who normally depend upon the Dispensary for medical care. To some degree, it also reflects a tendency to postpone medical care on the part of those people who are working under the pressure of war production.

Personnel

The unprecedented load has been carried by a steadily decreasing number of members of the Hospital organization.

Due to the demands of war service, a substantial reduction in the membership of the Professional Staff, of both Attending and House Physicians, placed an extraordinary volume of work upon those remaining. Even without the normal support of the auxiliary services, they met these additional responsibilities willingly and ably.

The loss in personnel in the auxiliary services was most severe in the last year when there was a decline of 16% below normal and the rate of turnover of employees averaged 112%. To stem this tide, jobs were re-defined and wages were raised three times during the two-year period and considerable flexibility was instituted in the standards and procedures of employment. Nevertheless, many departments remain understaffed and the Hospital is still at a disadvantage in competition with industry. Furthermore, the employment of the less physically fit has added greatly to the burden of our Personnel Health Service.

The Chiefs of Professional Services, Department Heads, and their immediate assistants have been compelled to uphold a staggering load. Without doubt there has been a definite impairment of service but not below what we believe to be necessary, adequate, minimum care.

In the meantime the School of Nursing of Yale University has cooperated earnestly by accelerating its course to twenty-eight months and radically increasing the student enrollment, while the formation of the U.S. Cadet Nurse Corps has attracted many young women to the nursing field. The import of these endeavors to help our service will be realized more appreciably next year.

Volunteer Service

The provision of adequate hospital service to the community would not have been possible except for the wholehearted co-operation of large numbers of men and women who have joined our Volunteer Services and that of the Red Cross. Four hundred thirty-one women and one hundred forty-three men gave direct assistance to regular hospital personnel, and two thousand others contributed to the preparation of dressings and the processing of supplies. For all this important service, we are deeply grateful.

The Men's Volunteer Corps, started under the leadership of Frederick D. Grave on November 25, 1942, was the first organization of its kind in the country. Affording relief in a critical shortage of manpower, it has received national recognition from the Office of Civilian Defense and has served as a model to many other communities.

Financial

By reason of a sharp rise in the cost of supplies and wages, shown in a daily average cost per patient of $8.67 and $8.97 in the two years respectively, it became necessary to raise rates to patients for all classes of accommodations on January 1, 1942.

The deficit for the New Haven Hospital was $65,508.17 and for the New Haven Dispensary was $34,862.64, or a combined total of $100,370.81 for the year ended June 30, 1942. The deficits for the year ended June 30, 1943, were $47,232.32 and $32,725.21, respectively, or a combined total of $79,957.53—the lowest in many years. While our efforts to economize played their part, we must point out that our inability to maintain a requisite number of personnel was largely responsible for the smaller deficit in the latter year.

The deficits for both years of $180,328.34 were reduced by contributions from Yale University amounting to $179,957.53, for which we record our sincere appreciation. We are indebted, also, to the Community Chest, the State of Connecticut, the City of New Haven, Kiwanis Club, Employees' Tuberculosis Relief Association, and the Christmas Seal Fund of West Haven for their regular appropriations. We are grateful, likewise, to the many donors, who, by gifts of books, periodicals, and flowers, have brought cheer to patients. Moreover, we take pleasure in reporting gifts to endowment principal during the two-year period amounting to $134,102.74.

Conclusion

For their untiring efforts to meet the problems of this period we express our heartfelt thanks to every member of the Hospital organization; to the Camp Happyland Association; to the Children's Recreation Committee; to the Board of Lady Visitors; and to the many volunteers for their continued interest and effective service.

As to the future, we see our problems increased rather than abated. Obviously, there will be exacting need for resourcefulness and temporary adjustments so long as the war shall last. But what of the long time after the war ends? Apart from those things we cannot forecast, one thing is certain. More attention will be concentrated upon both the curative and the preventative aspects of sickness than ever before. In this effort our Hospital, affiliated with the Yale University Schools of Medicine and of Nursing, has a particular responsibility. To meet it we must have all possible help from those concerned with the Hospital's activities and the understanding support of the communities which it serves.

NEW HAVEN HOSPITAL

ORGANIZATION OF DEFENSE PROGRAM

The demands of total war took their toll from hospital personnel but also brought a sudden and critical need for preparation for defense against anticipated enemy attack at home. The illustrations above and the chart on the opposite page are small indications of the big job done by the New Haven Hospital. A fully developed organization of personnel duties for blackout and defense against enemy bombings, sabotage, and later possible gas attacks was set up. Supplies of plasma, medical goods, and hospital equipment were stored for ready access. Repeated drills were held to acquaint hospital personnel with methods established to cope with any emergency. These tests were repeated month after month and those who participated quickly learned speed and efficiency.

In addition, in order to permit near normal operation of the hospital during blackout periods essential areas of the hospital were rewired to provide electricity in those sections at the moment when other parts of the hospital could be darkened instantly. In those parts of the hospital where light had to be maintained special construction permitted quick closing of wooden windows in light-tight frames. Hospital workers took special air raid warden and gas protection courses.

One of the first hospitals in the nation to plan and prepare fully for home defense, the New Haven Hospital continues to be ready for any emergency that still may come.

OPERATING DEFICIT

The magnificent contributions of service by volunteers in the New Haven Hospital has been one of the great roles in the history of the General Hospital Society of Connecticut. Within the first few months after Pearl Harbor those women volunteers serving in the hospital had doubled and often tripled the amount of time spent doing hospital jobs. Many newcomers joined their ranks. The well-established Women Volunteers, the many active Supply Groups, Red Cross Nurses Aides, and Grey Ladies eagerly accepted additional assignments. A Junior Division of high school students became messengers within the hospital. Then in November, 1942, a Men's Volunteer Corps was organized by Mr. Frederick D. Grave. The excellent service provided by these men in professional care, property care, and operational divisions was a life-saver for the hospital in conjunction with the help afforded by the Women Volunteers. Quickly the news of the noteworthy performance of the Men Volunteers spread to scores of other hospitals where similar organizations were established. Later the pattern of the New Haven Hospital MV Corps was used as a guide in the establishment of a male volunteer program sponsored by the Office of Civilian Defense in cooperation with the American Hospital Association.

*Previous to the amendment of the constitution of The General Hospital Society in 1919, persons contributing at any one time $1,000 became vice-presidents for life; contributors of $500, life directors; contributors of $50, life members; and contributors of $25, members for ten years. The Act of March 20, 1919, omitted the class of life directors and provided that contributors of $500 should be life members; of $25, annual members. Those enumerated in the list as life directors are, therefore, those who qualified before the amendment of 1919.

*To the Board of Directors,
The General Hospital Society of Connecticut,
New Haven, Connecticut.*

We have made an examination of the balance sheet of

OF CONNECTICUT

(comprising the New Haven Hospital and the

as of June 30, 1942, and of the related statements of general funds surplus and deficits for the fiscal year then ended. In connection therewith, we examined or tested accounting records of the Society and other supporting evidence and obtained information and explanations from officers and employees of the Society; we also made a general review of the operating and income accounts for the year, but we did not make a detailed audit of the transactions.

At the request of your Treasurer, The Union and New Haven Trust Company, we did not apply the auditing procedure of confirming the accounts receivable by communication with the debtors and, owing to the amount of time which would be involved, we did not make a detailed review of the patients' accounts receivable. A study of past collection experience, recently made by the employees, indicates that the allowance of $120,277.84 may be sufficient to cover eventual losses on collection of the amount of $345,671.93 shown on the attached balance sheet as due from patients at June 30, 1942. In estimating the amount of the allowance, it was assumed that patients' accounts do not become wholly uncollectible until three years have elapsed. In January, 1942, an amount of $172,000.00 was transferred from the allowance for doubtful accounts to a reserve for contingencies.

The stocks and bonds, real estate mortgages and real estate shown on the books were in agreement with those shown on certified lists submitted to us by the Custodian, The Union & New Haven Trust Company. The funds investments are shown on the balance sheet at cost or at amounts assigned by the Treasurer at date of receipt. At June 30, 1942 the approximate amount of the stocks and bonds based on market quotations was $3,240,000.00 compared with a total book amount of $3,769,438.43.

Our examination of the recorded changes in the accounts for the funds principal and the investments thereof was limited to a comparison of the transactions shown on the books with reports of such changes prepared by the Treasurer, The Union and New Haven Trust Company and submitted to your Board for approval.

It was impracticable for us to obtain direct confirmation and verification of legacies and gifts received during the year ended June 30, 1942. We have not undertaken to ascertain that provisions affecting funds and gifts have been observed.

In our opinion, based upon such examination and subject to the foregoing comments and also to the explanations shown in footnotes to the statements, the accompanying balance sheet and related statements of general funds surplus and deficits fairly present the position of the Society at June 30, 1942, and the results of its operations for the year.

LYBRAND, ROSS BROS. & MONTGOMERY
Certified Public Accountants.

New York, August 25, 1942.

*To the Board of Directors,
The General Hospital Society of Connecticut,
New Haven, Connecticut.*

We have made an examination of the balance sheet of

OF CONNECTICUT

(comprising the New Haven Hospital and the

as of June 30, 1943, and of the related statements of general funds surplus and deficits for the fiscal year then ended. In connection therewith, we examined or tested accounting records of the Society and other supporting evidence and obtained information and explanations from officers and employees of the Society; we also made a general review of the operating and income accounts for the year, but we did not make a detailed audit of the transactions.

At the request of your Treasurer, The Union & New Haven Trust Company, we did not apply the auditing procedure of confirming the accounts receivable by communication with the debtors and, owing to the amount of time which would be involved, we did not make a detailed review of the patients' accounts receivable. A study of past collection experience, made by the controller, indicates that the allowance of $153,804.52 may be sufficient to cover eventual losses on collection of the amount of $367,349.05 shown on the attached balance sheet as due from patients at June 30, 1943. In estimating the amount of the allowance, it was assumed that patients' accounts do not become wholly uncollectible until three years have elapsed.

The stocks and bonds, real estate mortgages, and real estate shown on the books at June 30, 1943, were in agreement with those shown on certified lists submitted to us by the Custodian, The Union & New Haven Trust Company. We also accounted for these investments as of September 15, 1943, by inspection or confirmation and review of intervening recorded transactions. At June 30, 1943, the approximate amount of the stocks and bonds based on market quotations was $3,814,000.00 compared with a total book amount of $3,738,504.01.

Our examination of the recorded changes in the accounts for the funds principal was limited to a comparison of the transactions shown on the books with reports of such changes prepared by the Treasurer, The Union & New Haven Trust Company, and submitted to your Board for approval.

It was impracticable for us to obtain direct confirmation and verification of legacies and gifts received during the year ended June 30, 1943. We have not undertaken to ascertain that provisions affecting funds and gifts have been observed.

In our opinion, based upon such examination and subject to the foregoing comments and also to the explanations shown in footnotes to the statements, the accompanying balance sheet and related statements of general funds surplus and deficits fairly present the position of the Society at June 30, 1943, and the results of its operations for the year.

LYBRAND, ROSS BROS. & MONTGOMERY
Certified Public Accountants.
